

Madeleine Editions

Founder Bio

EVA LOU is the founder of Madeleine Editions, an award-winning publishing house that creates beautiful, immersive story experiences for modern families. A Taiwanese-born, American-educated writer, she has called Kaohsiung, Hawaii, Seoul, and now Paris her home. As a multilingual parent, Eva was determined to find the best ways to introduce new languages to her story-loving daughter. Vocabulary and grammar rules can be memorized at any age, but developing an ear for a language – for the inherent musicality in every tongue – comes naturally to children. Applying her multicultural lens and unique combination of skills as a writer with a background in music and art curation, Eva set out to develop books that merge music, storytelling and moving pictures. She collaborates with acclaimed artists from around the globe to bring families quality multimedia books in easily accessible formats. Each book can be read and listened to in multiple languages, and is inspired by a different location around the world: Italy, Morocco, China, and more!

Eva holds a BA in Comparative Literature from Brown University, and a MFA in Writing from Columbia University. You can find out more about Eva and her stories by visiting the Madeleine Editions website at madeleineeditions.com.

For more on our founder and contributors, visit "Who We Are".